

East Leake benefits from Nottinghamshire County Council COVID-19 Community Funding

Following the creation of Nottinghamshire County Council's £1 million COVID-19 Community Fund to help communities across Nottinghamshire as they respond to the current Coronavirus public health emergency, County Councillor Andy Brown and County Councillor Reg Adair, who represent the Leake & Ruddington division, are delighted to report that £5,000 from the fund is being allocated to East Leake Crisis Response, managed by East Leake Parish Council. Andy and Reg have also allocated a further £500 from their Councillors' Divisional Fund to support this work.

Councillor Andy Brown said:

"I'm delighted that East Leake Crisis Response is one of the organisations benefitting from Nottinghamshire County Council's COVID-19 Community Fund. This is an incredibly challenging time for residents, but it is also bringing out all that is best in local people, helping and supporting each other, especially the most vulnerable and elderly. Our contribution of £5,000 from the COVID-19 community fund and £500 from our own divisional funds will help to support this work."

Councillor Reg Adair said:

"I cannot thank enough our social care and NHS staff and also the army of volunteers who are providing tremendous support to people at this most difficult of times. Nottinghamshire County Council has launched a wide range of initiatives to support them in this work, of which the COVID-19 Community Fund is one example, as well as our Coronavirus Community Support Hub."
